STARVIEW PACKAGING MACHINERY

CELEBRATES 35 YEARS OF INNOVATION

DORVAL, QUEBEC — August 2026

Starview Packaging Machinery, Inc., a leading North American manufacturer of heat-sealing packaging machinery, is celebrating 35 years in business this August—a milestone that traces the company's journey from a small operation in Mario and Terry Carlomusto's garage to a worldwide supplier of innovative packaging machinery, tooling and systems.

Founded in August 1991 by Mario Carlomusto, Starview began as a family business with a simple but ambitious goal: design and build quality packaging machinery that solved real customer needs.

Working alongside Mario from the beginning was his wife, Terry Carlomusto, who continues to play an important role in the company today as Controller/Finance. Together, Mario and Terry helped establish the foundation for what Starview would become.

The company's first machine was a 6 Station Rotary Blister Sealing Machine built in Mario's garage. That was soon followed by small shuttle blister sealing machines, establishing the foundation for Starview's expertise in heat-sealing packaging machinery. The company grew throughout the 1990s, with more complex blister card sealing machines. Growth brought change over the years that turned into six (6) machine product groups sold worldwide, with the Americas representing its largest market.

A LEGACY BUILT TOGETHER

INNOVATION, GROWTH AND FAMILY LEADERSHIP

A FAMILY BUSINESS BUILT TO LAST

Thirty-five years after its founding, Starview remains a family-owned and operated company.

Eric Carlomusto joined Starview full time in 2004 and serves as Vice President of Sales & Marketing. Steve Carlomusto joined the company full time in 2011 and serves as Director of Operations.

Together, Eric and Steve manage the company's day-to-day operations while working alongside their parents to guide Starview's continued growth.

35 YEARS OF PACKAGING EXPERTISE

Starview has built its reputation by offering one of the industry's most comprehensive ranges of standard and customized heat-sealing packaging machinery, from manual equipment to fully automated and integrated systems.

The company's machinery serves a wide variety of applications, including:

- Blister and clamshell packaging
- Medical tray packaging
- OTC pharmaceutical packaging
- Nutraceutical packaging
- Food tray packaging
- Skin packaging and die cutting
- Stretch Pak packaging
- Automated and integrated packaging systems

"One of the things that has remained consistent throughout Starview's history is our commitment to our customers.

We listen to what customers need, we engineer solutions around those needs and we stand behind the equipment after it goes into production.

That approach has helped us build relationships that have lasted for decades."

- Eric Carlomusto, Vice President of Sales & Marketing.

MORE THAN A MACHINE BUILDER

Starview's capabilities extend well beyond equipment manufacturing. The company provides complete in-house tooling design and manufacturing, allowing customers to work with one supplier from initial design through production.

Additional services include:

- In-plant installation • Parts and service • Customer training • Packaging line optimization analysis
- Payback analysis • IQ/OQ/PQ documentation • FAT and SAT support • SHDS documentation

This full-service approach allows Starview to support customers throughout the entire packaging project lifecycle.

"Our customers are looking for more than a piece of equipment. They need a solution that works, a supplier who understands their application and a team that will be there when they need support. We've built our business around providing that level of service."

- Steve Carlomusto, Director of Operations.

AS STARVIEW CELEBRATES 35 YEARS, THE CARLOMUSTO FAMILY REMAINS AT THE HEART OF THE COMPANY AND FOCUSED ON BUILDING THE NEXT CHAPTER OF ITS STORY.
